Warmth and charm welcome guests with an eclectic mix of nautical touches, beach house freshness and formal luxury. Contemporary and antique furnishings along with many original works of art are tastefully combined.

Each guest room has it's own distinctive character...

but all have ocean views and wifi access.

The Seafarer Inn is a late 19th century Dutch Colonial seaside home with a spacious wrap-around porch overlooking a rolling, manicured lawn bounded by natural rock formations and the sweet fragrance of wild sea roses (rosa rugosa). Your senses will gradually respond to all the wonder and beauty of seaside living with the Atlantic Ocean only steps away.

Follow Old Garden Path down along the ocean to Old Garden Beach, and then to the Headlands for a panoramic view of Sandy Bay. Ahead lies the heart of Rockport village, a walking tour reveals art galleries, antique shops, restaurants galore, churches, a library and historic Bearskin Neck.

Two spacious third floor Bed and Breakfast rooms for overnight guests have wonderful oceanviews and include a non-cooking dining nook for light refreshments or take-up-to-your-room breakfast.

Four guest rooms and one two-room suite are available as Gîte Américain weekly rentals. These guests have access to a gîte-guest-only shared kitchen/dining/library space on the main floor.

The Rockport Art Association located in the Old Tavern building and Maddocks barn gallery offer exhibits, lecture series and workshops. The Shalin Liu Performance Center offers a renown summer chamber music program in June and other year-round entertainment.

Take a short drive north to Halibut Point State Park (formerly the Babson Farm granite quarry), explore the park's trails and tidepools. Picnic on its rocky ledges, enjoy its sweeping views, and learn about Cape Ann's historic granite history.
